SUNDAY READINGS

First Reading: Amos 6.1a, 4~7

Psalm 146: Praise the Lord, O my soul!

Second Reading: Timothy 6: 11~16

Gospel: Luke 16: 19~31

Today's readings remind us of the dangers of becoming complacent in the privileged lifestyles with which we are blessed. Just as the Lord shows compassion and love for all those who are in need, so must we, as people of faith, try to do the same.

The prophet Amos (First Reading) speaks to those who relish their lives in the lap of luxury. In the final reckoning, he foretells how they will be first to be exiled.

The Second Reading urges Timothy, and us, to live our lives with righteousness, godliness, faith, love, steadfastness and gentleness.

Jesus reiterates the message of Amos in the Gospel, warning of the torment that will face those with wealth and privilege who ignore the plight of the poor.

We ask the Lord to help us see more clearly where we can use our gifts, and to respond with kindness and generosity.
